

Special Education: Public Charter School Parents & Educators in Conversation

For Public
Charter School
Parents &
Educators!

If you have a child with a disability or questions about special education at your DC Public Charter School—this event is for you!

Join us for a conversation with several public charter school parents of students in special education and their teachers and administrators. They will share about their relationships and how they work together to create successful environments and outcomes for students with special needs.

Following our panel conversation, representatives from DC organizations and agencies focused on special education and disability supports in DC will be available for networking.

Community resources and materials will be available for all attendees!

Thursday, April 27

Location: Capital City Public Charter School's New Theater!
100 Peabody Street, NW

6:30-7:30 p.m.—Conversation & Questions

7:30-8:30 p.m.—Networking and Provider Resources

Capital City has a parking lot (entrance on 2nd Street) and there is also street parking near the school. Ft. Totten (GREEN) and Takoma Park (RED) METRO stations are about a mile from the school, and several METRO bus routes serve the neighborhood.

Refreshments will be provided.
